

FREE SPEECH

Editor, The Jerusalem Post

Sir, — With regard to the parliamentary question submitted to the Minister of Justice by Rabbi Shlomo Lorincz, on the speech of Justice Haim Cohn (your issue of today), it is high time that we start respecting a dictum of Voltaire:

"I don't agree with a word that you say but I will defend to the death your right to say it."

The attitude of Rabbi Lorincz' followers will be responsible in the long run for turning our youth into Gentiles speaking Hebrew!

The recent not-so-successful American-Israel Dialogue was meant to exchange views. This is certainly no occasion for a disciplinary court!

Yours, etc.,

BELLA RAVDIN
